

Lemnitzer Does Not Agree With Taylor on Staff

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer said today that "I happen not to agree" with the proposal made by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor several years ago that the Joint Chiefs of Staff should be replaced by a single chief of staff.

Lemnitzer, present JCS chairman, was asked what he thought of the idea expressed by Taylor, who later this year will move into Lemnitzer's job from his present post of personal military adviser to President Kennedy.

The question was posed during a question-and-answer session after he had retired as army chief of staff. Taylor was recalled to that we worship Him in spirit and active duty by Kennedy last year.

Lemnitzer said there had been considerable change since Taylor wrote his book and that "I be day and keep it holy or separated from other days, that we honor our parents, that we do not commit murder or adultery, that we do not steal, bear false witness, nor covet things not belonging to us. Jesus Christ summarized the Ten Commandments into loving God with all our beings and our neighbors as ourselves. We cannot keep these commandments in our own strength, but through faith in Jesus Christ and trusting in His help to overcome temptations to violate them."

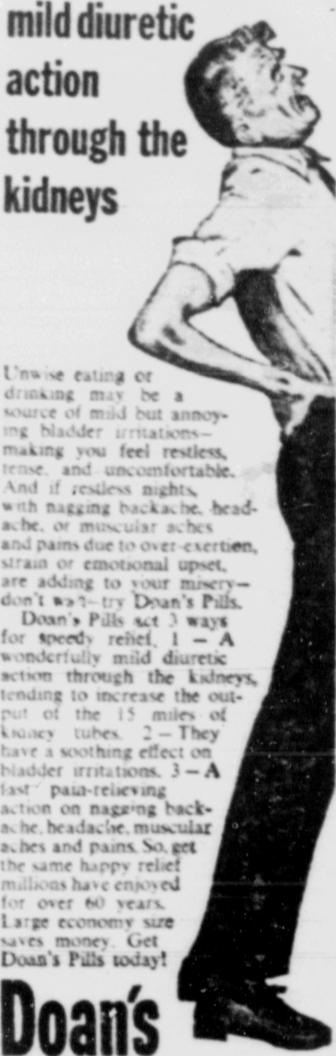

This was the first time Lemnitzer—who will become commander of U.S. forces in Europe and Allied supreme commander—had spoken out publicly on the subject of Taylor's original opinion about the agency over which Taylor now will preside.

QUESTION: Do the Ten Commandments have anything to do with Christianity? How important are they? —R. J.

ANSWER: The Ten Commandments give a concise statement of God's moral laws and they have never been set aside. They embody man's responsibility to God and His relationship with His fellow men. God still demands that we honor His name and not profane it, that we remember His birthday, and that "I be day and keep it holy or separated from other days, that we honor our parents, that we do not commit murder or adultery, that we do not steal, bear false witness, nor covet things not belonging to us."

All opponents forecast he would fall short of the clear majority he needs to avoid a runoff primary on Aug. 14.

Sen. J. William Fulbright is opposed by Little Rock businessman Winston Chandler in the only other major race.

QUESTION: In your opinion will people who marry outside of their own faith risk losing their salvation?

ANSWER: The Bible does not say "Marry in your own faith and you will be saved." Rather we are told: "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shall be saved and thine house." Salvation depends entirely on faith in Jesus Christ and on nothing else. There are many things people do which are unwise, or which cause difficulties of one kind or the other. But these have nothing to do with salvation. For instance we are not told that if we commit only a grants and state employees, and few sins we will be saved while that he was more interested in if we are very sinful we will be perpetuating his political organization than in the welfare of the men have sinned and that because state.

Faubus cited industrial advance, increased funds for public schools and highways, higher welfare grants and an ambitious state construction program as evidence he should be returned to office.

The opposition argued that Faubus was dominated by utility, liquor and gambling interests, that he played politics with welfare grants and state employees, and few sins we will be saved while that he was more interested in if we are very sinful we will be perpetuating his political organization than in the welfare of the men have sinned and that because state.

Faubus, who said in March he would retire to rest and write, but then changed his mind, stuck to the campaign techniques which served him well in past races—extensive, exhausting stamping and frequent television appearances.

Faubus called his opposition the "worst group" he has faced, but observers generally agreed he will get his sternest test of a career, which started when McMath named him to the State Highway Commission in 1949.

Faubus later served as governor's aide and highway director under McMath, who was defeated by Francis Cherry in a third-term bid in 1952. Two years later Faubus put the McMath organization together again and beat Cherry in a runoff.

McMath ran a losing race against Sen. John L. McClellan

PALISADE (UPI)—State Sen. battle for second place among Faubus' five opponents.

Sen. J. William Fulbright easily won nomination to a fourth term over Winston Chandler, a Little Rock businessman.

Returns from 2,029 of 2,348 precincts gave Faubus 152,332 votes to 134,941 for the combined opposition. Alford got 57,450, McMath 55,817, businessman Vernon Whitten 14,636, attorney Kenneth Coffey 4,409 and farmer David A. Cox 1,655.

Fulbright 1,1 153,073 votes, Chandler 82,311 in 1,946 precincts.

An anticipated heavy vote failed to materialize. Although the Faubus victory trend was established early, he lost strength from 1960 when he polled 58.7 per cent of a record 407,183 votes.

All five opponents made the fifth term the overriding issue, warning that the threat of dictatorship was inherent in retaining Faubus.

The governor campaigned on his record, citing industrial gains, increased funds for schools and highways, higher welfare benefits and other expanded state services to support his bid for another term.

The race pitted Faubus against his political mentor, McMath. Faubus was McMath's highway director when McMath, trying for a third term, was beaten by Francis Cherry in 1952.

Two years later Faubus pulled the old McMath organization together and unseated Cherry. Meanwhile McMath campaigned unsuccessfully against Sen. John L. McClellan.

Faubus and McMath broke openly during the integration crisis. McMath criticized the governor for using the National Guard and closing schools in an effort to block integration in Little Rock. Faubus maintained that the break came earlier because he would not let McMath pull strings in the governor's office.

Both Faubus and Fulbright will have Republican opposition in November, but Arkansas has not elected a Republican to a major office since Reconstruction.

Socialism Is Reactionary

Yesterday we began a discussion from this beginning of progress in the subject of ownership, times dating to pre-history, up to the present time. This discussion was inspired by a recent letter from N. J. Carter, without notable variation that a local socialist, who contends man made progress in direct rather than collective ownership, and that he began to accept the management of property is subject of PRIVATE ownership, prior to the idea of private ownership. When tribal members began to own their own clothing and their hope (see yesterday's editorial) own weapons they became more page) that capitalism, which he self-sustaining, more able to survive, will be uprooted and re-arranged to some replaced by a system of collective gree of happiness and well-being property ownership and control. As they began to support the idea

In our brief essay yesterday we of private ownership of houses pointed out that the position taken by Mr. Carter is precisely the gain to improve and the ability to position taken by early savages, stay alive was increased. These aborigines, whether they Finally, when some man ac- lived on the North American continent, in Australia, Asia, Europe, land and all that the land or Africa, believed and practiced the idea of private ownership, could produce, great strides for a type of communal ward were made.

But from very early times, We stress this, because we want tribes "elected" their own chiefs. It definitely understood that M. or shamans. Formal balloting Carter's support of socialism is may not have been employed. But it is conceded by most of the students and scholars who have

So many people think of socialism as a "brave new" concept. It is neither brave nor new. It is as ancient as cannibalism and the very acme of fear and cowardice. And we are not calling Mr. Carter names, we are simply defining and classifying the system he supports.

Mr. Carter feels that if we could "move forward" to socialism, conditions would improve for all of us.

Actually, without his knowing it, Mr. Carter is a reactionary and is championing the most ancient and unworkable system of economics in the world. He seeks to re-act to the progress occasioned by private ownership, in his fear that private ownership may create inequities in which some will have more than others.

Now Mr. Carter's contention is that if the tribe (all of us) has collective ownership, and if these collective properties are "managed" by our "elected representatives," conditions will be better for all of us.

Mr. Carter's case would have more merit if he were speaking in terms of an unexplored and untried theory. But in point of fact, mankind had something close to it, a million years in which it lived and experimented with socialism. And during the bulk of that time human beings made little progress. Not until recent years right to do this. But we would like to throw off the yoke occasioned by collective ownership.

To The Point On Becoming a Journalist

By RUSSELL KIRK

Among the numerous vices of American education, one of the silliest is our passion for offering vocational courses and curricula, from high school through graduate school, in occupations that can be learned only through experience on the job. The teaching of journalism may be sufficient illustration.

A good newspaperman or writer for popular magazines needs a lively mind, the power to concentrate and a big stock of general, if ordered, information. He needs to be a genuinely educated man, whether he has got his learning in schools or by self-discipline. He needs especially to know humane literature, history and politics. But enrolling as a Journalism Major is a sad blunder.

When I expressed such opinions at a national conference of editorial writers, one professor of journalism present inquired whether I would approve of "current events" courses in journalism schools, meant to acquaint students with world affairs by discussing daily the background of events in the headlines. I replied that such a method would be even more time wasting than technical academic studies in newspaper work. For one comes to understand "current events" only through the acquiring of genuine perspective — through study of history, social theory, philosophy and great literature.

Journalists require education — but theirs ought to be liberal education — and they require apprenticeship in their craft. Work on a school or college paper is a very good beginning in such apprenticeship. Then practical reporting or feature writing ought to follow, on a commercial paper. The classroom, however, is a place for liberal studies, not for vocational instruction. The more college — educated newspapermen the better. Yet, such should major in academic disciplines, and then turn their general culture to account when they begin their journalistic jobs.

Most of the influential editors of this country, I think, are not to private ownership he has a typical products of journalism ready method of procedure. He can turn over all of his private property to his neighbors and journey at once to Northern Australia, where he can join with the aborigines, the Bindu Bu, who enjoy the precise kind of economic system he advocates. There he will share and share alike with these Australian bushmen whatever nature has in store for them.

We hold that Mr. Carter has a big school of journalism, only 16 percent of the graduates become newspapermen; 17 percent get jobs on business and industrial houses organs; and the remaining two-thirds turn to public relations (much more lucrative than journalism) or to miscellaneous vocations.

Almost all of these, I suspect, would be better journalists or better non-journalists if they had been liberally educated. Technique comes from experience, not from dull and inflated three-credit courses.

than in the United States of America, where from an early date, very little interference with the accumulation of capital ensued.

Nowadays, ideas of socialism (early economic savagery) have been gaining ground and we are beginning to lose our ability to accumulate and bequeath wealth.

But economic facts are no respecters of persons or nations. We will lose out, just as the Russian, Chinese and Cuban people lost out, when a program of universal socialism was imposed on them by their "elected" representatives.

It follows that this was a most important advance in the possession of their fellows when death ensued. These properties, considered to be collective property anyhow, were redistributed among tribal members "for their use."

So long as this habit was practiced, little or no progress was made. As the idea of private property began to take hold, a new concept arose. The few trinkets and baubles of the savage which were now considered to be private in character, were buried with the corpse when death ensued. Whole systems of religion were built up around this idea of burial which probably reached its climax in the elaborate rites for the dead performed by the ancient Egyptians.

In the vast pyramids of Egypt were buried not only the corpses of the wealthy, but great quantities of their personal wealth.

Fortunately, for the Egyptian story, thieves perpetually looted the pyramids so that the wealth thus interred was brought out again in most cases, and once more put to use.

But it was dissipated and redistributed by the process. And no real productive progress was permitted to occur.

A little later, inspired probably by early Hebrew thinking, the personal accumulations of men were retained in the family and thus a total disintegration of human wealth was not permitted. This marked a most noteworthy step forward.

Then came ideas which occurred among the Hebrews, Celts, the Greeks, New Kingdom Egyptians have all forged ahead. And so others, that a man had a where has this been more true

MEDICAL BILL

To the Editor:

God bless the 52 senators who defeated the phony medical bill. Each one in the low income group would have to pay in over $10,000 and get back only $200, in medical aid, while free to the rich only.

The real purpose behind this bill was to put the healing profession behind the Iron Curtain like the phony Common Market and the Comies were all for it.

DOING HIS BIT

To the Editor:

For years much has been said against "litter bugs" as they call them, and much has been done to stop the vile practice of throwing paper and refuse about, even to the point of the government fining people when they catch any one litter bugger. I am firmly against the practice of the government and the new party will have some influence upon the coming election.

Regarding his candidacy, Pell said:

The Conservative Party of New York State has asked me to be their candidate for United States Senator. I have accepted.

I am the first to agree that there must be certain decencies and some decorum in the debate of foreign issues. But I do not accept for one single minute that this means that a Republican Legislator should, as Jacob Javits has during his entire Congressional career, join the vanguard of radical Democrats in urging the United States upon a course of suicidal appeasement."

This, then, is the crux of the Conservative position. It attacks the Conservative Party of New York State has asked me to be their candidate for United States Senator. I have accepted.

As a man who has spent most of his mature life in the service of our country, I believe passionately in democracy.

HEARING MILK PRICING
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission Monday rescheduled a hearing on charges of discriminatory milk pricing practices. The hearing, to be held in Denver, was originally scheduled for July 23, but was postponed. The FTC said they postponed the hearing after injunctions were obtained in Illinois by supermarket interests who objected to an open hearing because of confidential retail practices testimony. The new meeting will be held at the Commanding General, but in the crowd we lost sight of her.

Double Pass Pass Pass

The bidding:
West North East South
Pass Pass 1 2 2 4
4 4 6 6 Pass Pass
Double Pass Pass Pass

The United States outmaneuvered their Italian opponents today from both sides of the table to produce the largest net swing on a single deal from their recent match. This hand occurred very late in the match when the Americans launched an all-out push to overcome the Italian lead, and fell only a shade short of attaining their goal.

At the table where the United States held the North-South cards, the bidding was opened in third seat by East with one spade. South overcalled two diamonds and West jumped preemptively to four spades. At this point, North made a tactical gambling bid of six diamonds. He was not certain whose hand it was, but it seemed highly probable on the bidding that the competition would proceed uninterrupted into the five level, so he decided to put the opposition to the guess immediately. It did not appear likely that six diamonds could be punished severely, and North felt that, if the opposition persisted to six spades, he had ample defensive tricks.

North's bid was passed back to West who doubled. The opening lead was a small spade which was ruffed in dummy. The king of clubs was led and, when East followed with the three, declarer, after considerable thought, decided to ruff in his hand with the three of diamonds. He now proceeded to cross-ruff in spades and clubs until his hand was down to all red cards—three hearts and three diamonds. The lead was in dummy and South played a small spade. When East followed, declarer put in the jack which held the trick. The queen of diamonds was led to drive out the ace. A spade was returned and ruffed with the nine of diamonds; the jack of diamonds drew the outstanding trump, and the ace, king of hearts took the remaining tricks. Six diamonds doubled and made were worth 1,540 points.

At the other table the Italians sat North and South and, despite the fact that North opened a hand which his counterpart had passed in the other room, they did not get beyond the game level. East overcalled one spade, and South came in freely with two diamonds. West now made a false cue bid of two hearts, possibly in the hope of muddying the waters a little for the opposition. North jumped freely to five diamonds.

Subtle Use of Spices Puts Zip in Summer Foods

Cheeseburgers, a popular outdoor item, and potato and shrimp salad, equally enjoyed under the trees, both take on new interest when spiced with a restraining hand.

Curried Cheeseburgers (6 servings)

3 tablespoons instant minced onion
1/2 teaspoons curry powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
1/4 teaspoon chili powder
1/2 teaspoon chili powder
1/4 cup diced celery
1 teaspoon chopped onion
1/2 of a 5-ounce can deveined shrimp
1 to 2 tablespoons mayonnaise
Leaf head lettuce
3 slices tomatoes
Marinate potatoes in French dressing, salt, garlic powder, black pepper and chili powder for one hour or more. Add celery, onion, shrimp and enough mayonnaise to moisten salad. Serve cold to keep cheese from oozing out. Brown on both sides in a hot greased skillet. If desired, cook over a slow-burning charcoal fire. Serve between split warm hamburger buns.

but his partner declined to proceed further. In the play, declarer surrendered a trick to the ace of clubs and later refused the to fly over either country from heart finesse. AIRCRAFT TO BE GROUNDED

WASHINGTON (UPI)—All civil aircraft in the United States and Canada will be grounded for five and one-half hours on Sept. 2 for a test of North America's air defense system.

Dear Heloise:

Does anybody have any idea how to remove mildew stains from rubber mats on sink tops?

Mrs. L. V. R.

Take all of your rubber mats and put them in your bathtub or kitchen sink.

Fill your bathtub with about two inches of warm water. Add about one half cup of household bleach. Stir this well. Place all of your mildewed rubber mats in this concoction. Leave for a few hours.

Drain the water from the bathtub and using a little brush—gently brush the mats. I believe you will find all of the mildew has disappeared.

Many people also put one of the new scouring powders which contain bleach on these rubber mats and let them sit for a little while. Then rinse and wash as usual.

Dear Heloise:

I graduated from college and now—eight years, four children and a new home later—I have found that some of the most valuable knowledge does not come from textbooks! Your column offers immediate help to your readers, if they would only realize that even the simplest suggestions make our day easier.

I bought one of those little plastic dishwashers (a brush on the end of a squeeze bottle that you fill with detergent and water) and find it great for plates, pans and getting food particles out from between the tines on forks.

When I wash my husband's wash-and-wear white shirts, I do not touch them with the iron. My neighbors did not believe the results until I showed them.

I toss the shirts into my washer with some other clothes, run them through the full cycle, (spin type too) then I dry them completely in my dryer. However, I do take them out of my dryer right away, hang them on the back of a kitchen chair and presto... they are ready to wear!

I found when I tried drip-drying these wash-and-wear shirts, they needed pressing. The manufacturer does not recommend tumbling them dry, but mine are beautiful.

Some children are able to start the washer, gather the clothes and put them in the dryer. Give them a chance, lots of praise, and work together.

Try not to grumble about housework in front of young children. They will unconsciously take on your attitude.

Dear Abby—

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Styles Change -- Eventually!

DEAR ABBY: I have a pretty, intelligent, popular, 16-year-old daughter. She frizzes every hair on her head until it stands out like a Fiji Islander's. Then she brushes the top hairs lightly over all that mess and goes off with a bushel basket hair-do. Her hair appears to be falling out and it's lost its luster. This type of hair-do can't be good for the hair, can it? Why then do beauticians, who should know something about the care of hair, encourage hair-dos that ruin the hair? —MRS. A.

DEAR MRS. A.: We are victimized by fashion again. Beauticians don't have a corner on common sense. Everyone knows that hair, in order to be healthy, must be thoroughly and frequently brushed. But there are dollars (as well as sense) involved. The new hair-dos are so intricate that professional combing is almost daily. If this keeps up we'll have a nation of well-heeled hairdressers and bald-headed women.

DEAR ABBY: I want to recommend this to a reader who writes: "My 4-year-old boy shows a great deal of interest in seeing his baby sister get bathed and changed. It worries me. He has crayon color into a coloring book's picture of a little boy flying whenever he gets a chance. Should I bring up the subject or wait with a martini?"

DEAR BROKE: Worrying about whether or not one has cancer is an illness, too. Send her to another doctor. This time try one who deals with emotional problems.

Unload your problem on Abby.

For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to "Abby," care of this paper.

DEAR ABBY: What would you do if you saved for two years to buy a diamond ring for a girl, and then she turned around and married a guy she had known only three weeks? That's what happened to me. When she gave me my ring back, many of my friends told me I was lucky to be rid of her because she was never true to me. I feel so bad I could jump off the bridge. How does a guy get over a sock in the solar plexus like this? —UNLUCKY IN LOVE

DEAR UNLUCKY: Personally I think you're lucky. Lucky to have found out what kind of a girl she was before you gave her that little round ring that counts. My sympathy goes to the guy she married.

Solons Are Told They Have Own Defense Shelter

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Civil Defense backers said today that House members who turned down a national fallout shelter program have thousands of "excellent" spaces at hand for their own use.

As part of a national shelter survey—financed by Congress last year—the solidly built House office buildings have been found to afford acceptable shelter for 22,000 persons, with more than half the available spaces rated 10 times as safe as the minimum standard.

Additional shelter for congressmen and their staffs is available in the Library of Congress building and completion of a new $80 million office building for House members next year undoubtedly will provide more and even better shelter in its underground floors.

Rep. Melvin Price, D-Ill., a member of the congressional Atomic Energy Committee and one of a handful of members on record as opposing Monday's House action, advised lawmakers of their relatively favorable position in today's congressional record. Price said the congressional shelters were identified in a survey that turned up fallout shelter spaces for 60 million Americans in existing buildings and in some cases in caves, tunnels and other special structures.

Price and Rep. Chet Holifield, D-Calif., warned House members that in affirming an appropriations committee's veto on further federal spending for shelter construction they also were jeopardizing the program to put emergency stores of food and water in existing shelters.

"I hope the members will search their minds and hearts and give careful thought to whether they want to take the responsibility for depriving the American people of a basic means for protection and survival," Price said.

Colon Says U.S. Aids Egypt to Buy Red Arms

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department says that if the U.S. stopped all aid, the United Arab Republic's ability to buy Soviet arms would not be "substantially affected."

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., made public Tuesday a letter from Frederick G. Dutton, assistant secretary of state, denying any "significant correlation between U.S. aid and United Arab Republic arms purchases."

Keating, in a statement, said he was not in full accord with the department's reasoning, and would seek strict enforcement of his amendment in the foreign aid bill aimed at insuring that U.S. aid "is not used directly or indirectly to finance Soviet arms purchases."

Dr. Kelsey Can Not Keep Out Of Limelight

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Frances O. Kelsey, hailed as a scientist-heroin who kept the birth-deforming drug thalidomide off the U.S. market, would like to keep herself out of the limelight.

She's always worked closely with her husband, F. Ellis Kelsey, a general of the Public Health Service.

She hasn't been able to get much work done since her role in wife's appraisal and action.

After her husband's approval came the bit of luck that gave Dr. Kelsey backing for her arguments.

Among the thousands of scientific journals published, Canadian-born Dr. Kelsey happened on a British Medical Journal of February 1961 in which a letter to the editor described "peripheral neupathies" — a numbness or tingling of the fingers and toes—in persons who had taken thalidomide for three or four months.

It was a danger signal, and it sent Dr. Kelsey seeking even more information from the manufacturers, including requests to investigate whether it was safe for use during pregnancy.

Not long afterward, the grim reports came from Germany that it was far from safe and thalidomide was quickly withdrawn.

With the drug exposed, Dr. Kelsey was revealed as a heroine, and was suggested for a distinguished service award.

Educator Says This Is Age of Goof-Off

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—An educator says this period in America has been aptly called "The Age of Goof-Off."

Dr. Houston Cole, president of Jacksonville State College in Alabama, made the comment Tuesday night to a conference of high school principals.

He said a recent survey shows the average American works about four hours of his eight-hour day, spending the rest of his work time drinking coffee or soda pop or just goofing off.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

KIDNEY INJURIES

Kidney injuries are potentially dangerous, especially when they are neglected or not recognized. Internal scars may lead to complications, including the development of high blood pressure and chronic kidney disease. These aftermaths of accidents can be avoided by consulting a physician whenever an injury occurs in the area of these organs, particularly if blood is noted at the first urination after the mishap.

The kidneys are located along the back part of the abdominal cavity and are held in place by various tissues. A force sufficient to displace or twist the structure can pull off an artery or vein or produce internal bruises or tears.

A blow directly over the kidney area may bruise, rupture, or shatter the organ. This happens occasionally to boxers but it has become a more common type of injury in automobile crashes.

A direct blow is not needed. Twisting of the trunk or a fall on the lower back may inflict serious damage. Examples include sliding into second base or bodily contact during strenuous physical sports.

Kidney involvement is suspected whenever there is pain in the kidney area following an accident. Some of the blood from the injured organ finds its way into the urine. A severe hemorrhage will stain the secretions red.

But smaller amounts of blood are not always visible. Bleeding usually is temporary and is likely to stop within a few hours. For these reasons, the first specimen should be saved for microscopic examination.

Most kidney injuries heal spontaneously after resting in bed. Hospitalization may be advised when it is necessary to watch the patient carefully until bleeding stops.

Where symptoms persist or get worse, surgery is needed. It may be possible to repair the damage in some instances. When this is not feasible, the kidney has to be removed.

Rheumatic Fever

Mrs. S. writes: How long could a 12 year old have had rheumatic fever before it was detected?

Reply

Mild forms may exist for days or weeks before being detected.

Unscheduled Chute Jumps Are Filmed

VENTURA, Calif. (AP)—Despite the television show's name—"Ripcord"—it wasn't in the script when three cast members parachuted to earth Tuesday.

A sequence to be filmed entailed a stuntman climbing from one plane to another at 5,000 feet.

The planes—buffeted by a strong wind—bumped and were thrown out of control.

While a cameraman in a third plane dutifully recorded the unscheduled jumps, stuntman Lyle Cameron, 31, and pilots Howard Curtis, 28, and Cliff Winters, 33, his silk.

The two single-engine planes crashed 20 miles southeast of here in an uninhabited area.

The men reported no injuries.

MILLINGTON, Tenn. (AP)—Mrs. Bobby Ellis was lavish with her praise when her year-old collie picked up the afternoon paper from the lawn and delivered it to her.

Next evening Mrs. Ellis returned home and found all of her neighbors' papers, along with her own, piled on the front porch.

Stock Market Backs Away In Moderate Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to give ground early this afternoon as it backed away from the top of a four-day advance. Trading was moderate.

Taking a fairly substantial loss, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 10 at 119.30, with industrials off 2.60, rails off .30, and utilities off .10.

Losses of key stocks were mainly fractional, but some of the blue chips whose advances helped push up the average yesterday were down more than a point.

Wall Street analysts generally expected that as the list neared the 600 level in the Dow Jones industrial average there was a and that this kind of technical resistance would impede further advance.

Some of the gold mining stocks advanced and selected issues in other groups also posted plus signs. Steels, motors, oil, chemical, electronics, and utilities were generally lower.

Homestake spurted more than 2 points and Dome Mines added a point but other gold mining shares did little. Homestake benefitted from a rise in earnings. The decline of these stocks in recent weeks also developed some technical support on the basis of their lower prices, brokers said.

Thiokol was fairly active and up about a point following news it had received a contract for more than 20 million.

Du Pont yielded more than a point of yesterday's 4-point rise. Eastman Kodak took a similar loss.

Among the more widely moving and higher-priced issues, Corning Glass and IBM dropped about 4 apiece. Xerox 3, and Polaroid 2. U.S. Steel stretched its loss to nearly a point following yesterday's expected news that it would declare its usual dividend "even so."

Arizona Plagued By Dust, Fumes, Survey Discloses

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The sick from other parts of the nation—particularly the hot, dry West—deserts of Arizona and the cool mountains of Colorado—once was surrounded by the snow-covered mecca for thousands suffering from respiratory ailments.

Dr. Cyrus W. Anderson, past president of the Colorado Medical Society, says dirty air is aggravating sinus disorders and having a dangerous effect on the lungs.

And the worst is to come. A 1957 survey indicated that within eight years auto exhaust pollution would triple, industrial pollution would increase by a third, and household pollution would be up one fifth.

To battle this condition, Denver has restricted to certain hours burning of trash in home incinerators. The ordinance also prohibits industrial smoke of greater than specified density. But nothing

Phoenix is covered with an almost perpetual haze. From the downtown section, famed landmarks such as Camelback Mountain are lost behind the smoky mantle.

The larger counties—primarily Maricopa (Phoenix) and Pima (Tucson)—demanded medical action. But many smaller counties feared legislative action might be aimed at their copper smelters.

After a one-year delay, Arizona's legislature passed a measure permitting each county to combat air pollution on its own.

A U.S. Public Health Service study reported that Phoenix had

Three Top Pitchers Receive 'Bad News'

By United Press International
Three major league pitchers—Lary Ray, Ray Sadecki and Wilmer Mizell—were a major league lifetime record with bad news at practically 90 victories and 87 defeats.

The Mets announced they were calling up infielder-outfielder Sam-year-old Mizell, one-time ace of my Drake from Syracuse of the St. Louis Cardinals' pitching International League where he was batting .256.

Lary won only two games for the Tigers this year and lost six in placing him on the disabled list, the Tigers called up Howard Kopitz, a 24-year-old right-hander from Denver in the American Association. Kopitz had a 23-3 mark with Birmingham of the Southern Association last year and recently was released from the Army.

The San Francisco Giants brought up infielder—outfielder Carl Bole from El Paso of the Texas League and sent rookie Manuel Mota to the same club Boles and a .323 batting average at El Paso while Mota's average with the Giants had slipped to .338.

The Giants also announced that third baseman Jim Davenport

Angels Skid As Cleveland Scores, 5-3

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Angels today made a lond farewell to Cloud 9.

The exhilarating ride in the upper strata came to a screeching halt Tuesday night as Cleveland scored a run without a hit in the seventh inning and handed the Angels their fourth loss in five games—their worst slump since the first month of the season.

The Angels, who reached first place in the American League on July 4, lost three of four at Detroit over the weekend and ran into a bunch of re-awakened Indians in the opener of their series at Cleveland. Home runs by Willie Kirkland and John Romano supplied the punch for the Indians and dropped the Angels six games behind league-leading New York. The McAtee of Wheat Ridge and Jerry Abbott of Borger, Tex. both fired up Tuesday afternoon, did nothing to change the medalist picture. Two-time champion Jim Phelps, who appears primed to make a strong run for his third title in this event, turned in his blistering 66 as one of the first to go out on the course Sunday. No one actually approached that six-under-par masterpiece during Tuesday's windup rounds.

Four golfers, however, did slice strokes off the Patty Jewett par of 72, and another pair matched it as one of the tightest Championship flights in some time emerged after Tuesday's action. Larry Abbott of Borger, Tex. both fired two under 70's to pace the final day qualifiers. The National League goes back to work today, with a nine-week straight stretch home, and if any with an 11-10 mark, will attempt to half the Dodgers at Los Angeles Dodgers it had better hurry. In another ten days they could be out of sight.

The rampaging Dodgers, fresh from a sweep over their closest rivals, the San Francisco Giants, are hot as a Sunday in Houston, and as hot as a Sunday in New York. The defending champion Cincinnati Reds (2-12), will try to stem the Giants' slump.

The Giants get a chance to lick their wounds against the same fare being served to the Dodgers, but they have not been as overwhelming against the Cubs, Phils and Mets. They are 26-9 against them.

Bob Shaw, (11-8), goes for Milwaukee against Houston. Hal Wodeshick (4-10), and the Phillies (Dallas Green 4-3) meet the New York Mets (Al Jackson 5-12).

This is obviously a fine feast to set before a team that has won eight of its last nine and boasts the winningest pitcher in the majors. Don Drysdale, 19-4, the leading hitter, (Tommy Davis, 333), and the stolen base leader, (Mauri Wills, 51), and the hottest hitter tenders.

And after the visitors depart the West Coast, the Dodgers and the Giants go at it again for three games. There's bad news in store for the Giants for that series, too.

Sore-handed Sandy Koufax, who leads the league in strikeouts with 209, Drysdale is second with 152—is expected to be ready to pitch again by then. Since the Dodgers launched their runaway without him, it can not be comforting for the Giants to contemplate.

Dodgers Threatening Runaway in NL Chase

DETROIT (UPI) — With little to gain and much to lose, Zora Folley of Chandler, Ariz., takes on a light heavyweight with a knockout punch tonight in a 10-round battle with Doug Jones.

Advance sales indicate a crowd of about 3,500 for the bout in Auditorium Arena.

Folley is pointing for a heavyweight title fight should he beat his New York opponent tonight, although there has been talk of matching him with unbeaten Cassius Clay of Louisville, Ky., as a prelude to any title scrap.

Folley currently ranks third and comes into this bout fresh from a knockout victory over Paul Andrews on June 13. In his last appearance, he was named "Fighter of the Month" today by The Ring magazine.

A victory over Jones would do little to enhance his standing but a loss to the second-ranked light heavyweight contender would jeopardize his chance for a crack at Floyd Patterson's crown.

The well-spoken heavyweight contender says he'll be pointing for a knockout, although Jones hasn't been stopped in 22 fights. Jones' record is 20-2, while Folley is 61-4-1.

"This will be our first fight against a light heavy in six years," said Bill Swift, Folley's manager. "and Jones' extra speed may prevent a knockout."

Says Jones: "I gotta good punch. We'll see if he's got a good chin."

Folley is expected to weigh in around 194. Jones, who has lost only to light heavyweight champion Harold Johnson and to heavyweight Eddie Machen, will enter the ring at 179.

Both fighters have been guaranteed $4,000 each with the option of 25 per cent of the net after taxes.

Four preliminary bouts also are on tap.
